Re: LC Battle Panels, Sole provider letter

To whom it may concern,

The LC Battle Panel includes a mobile ballistic panel design, that has a number of features that are somewhat unique:

- 1) Wheel/caster systems are inset from the ends of the panel, so that angled configurations can be achieved without wheel or frame interference
- 2) The LC Battle Panel uses conventional aluminum framing and fabrics to project an "innocent" office panel appearance, rather than a robust bulletproof panel. This is designed to fool the terrorists.
- 3) The LC Battle Panel uses "total lock" casters where the wheel, and the caster rotation can both be locked.

Most of the ballistic products that we are aware of are stationary designs or just the ballistic fiberglass or glass/polycarbonate sheets.

We are not aware of another manufacturer who produces a ballistic rated mobile innocent looking office style partition of this type in the USA. To the best of our knowledge, we appear to be a sole provider for this type of product.
